The University of Tokyo's Graduate School of Public Policy (GraSPP) will be holding a live online session via Zoom for prospective applicants to the Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP). In this session, participants will receive an overview of GraSPP programs and hear from MPP/IP alumni who will share their own perspectives from their time at GraSPP.

The two-year Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP) offers an extensive and diverse menu of courses taught in English. The program provides recent graduates and aspiring public policy professionals with an opportunity to learn cutting-edge multidisciplinary approaches to addressing public policy challenges. Our faculty consists of academics, who provide intellectual foundations, and policy practitioners, who share professional knowledge and experience with students. The diverse, international student body is close knit and provides program alumni with a global network of public policy professionals. Our cosmopolitan campus is located in central Tokyo with government and business districts within easy reach.

July 20, 2021

Secretary, Ministry of Federal Affairs and General Administration
Government of Nepal

Dear Sir,

Appreciating your support to our school during the past years, I am writing to seek your support again in organizing an information session on Thursday, August 19, 2021 to provide government officials with information about our two-year Master of Public Policy, International Program (MPP/IP) and scholarship opportunities. The session titled Discover GraSPP for aspiring public policy professionals in Nepal (please see Attachment) will be online-based due to travel restrictions under the Covid-19 pandemic. We expect that the target audience consists of officials responsible for human resources development and prospective applicants for our program from ministries and agencies in the government of Nepal.

GraSPP, established in 2004, educates mid-career professionals and students mostly aiming at public service career. Since the start of MPP/IP in 2010, we have had more than 20 Nepalese nationals, mostly mid-career students from the government, enrolled in our program.

GraSPP has partnership arrangements with Asian Development Bank, IMF and the World Bank to broaden opportunities for promising professionals to study public policy. On top of the existing partnerships, we have been collaborating with JICA to attract prospective candidates for JICA's "SDGs Global Leader" program, which would enable eligible professionals from Nepal to study in Japan, including in our master's program.

With your endorsement and guidance, we would like to coordinate with your staff on the program and logistics of the information session.

I would appreciate your guidance and support and look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely yours,

Toshiro Nishizawa
Professor
