Introduction To Computers

- Definition:
 - Its an electronic Device that is used for information Processing.
 - Computer.. Latin word.. compute
 - Calculation Machine
- A computer system includes a computer, peripheral devices, and software

Introduction To Computers

- Accepts input, processes data, stores data, and produces output
- Input refers to whatever is sent to a Computer system
- Data refers to the symbols that represent facts, objects, and ideas
- Processing is the way that a computer manipulates data
- A computer processes data in a device called the central processing unit (CPU)

Introduction To Computers

Computer

Performs computations and makes logical decisions Millions / billions times faster than human beings

Computer programs

Sets of instructions for which computer processes data Hardware

Physical devices of computer system

Software

Programs that run on computers

- In 1822 Charles Babbage (English mathematician, philosopher), sometimes called the "father of computing" built the Difference Engine
- Machine designed to automate the computation (tabulation) of polynomial functions (which are known to be good approximations of many useful functions)
 - Based on the "method of finite difference"
 - Implements some storage
- In 1833 Babbage designed the Analytical Engine, but he died before he could build it
 - It was built after his death, powered by steam

• Generation of Computers

- First Generation (1946-59)
- Second Generation(1957-64)
- Third Generation(1965-70)
- Fourth Generation(1970-90)
- Fifth Generation(1990 till date)

CHARACTER ENCODING TECHNIQUES

ASCII

ASCII, abbreviated from American Standard Code for Information Interchange, is a character encoding standard for electronic communication.

ASCII uses 8 bits to represent a character.

However,

one of the bits is a parity bit. This is used to perform a parity check (a form of error checking). This uses up one bit, so ASCII represents 128 characters (the equivalent of 7 bits) with 8 bits rather than 256.

The first big problem is that ASCII only includes letters from the English alphabet and a limited set of symbols.

Representing the character sets for several different language structures is not possible in ASCII, there are just not enough available characters.

Eg. If we type some Nepali character in traditional way like using preeti font it was internally stored using English characters rather than unique value for our Devanagarik letters.

UNICODE

Unicode was created to allow more character sets than ASCII.

Unicode uses 16 bits to represent each character. This means that Unicode is capable of representing 65,536 different characters and a much wider range of character sets.

•Unicode can represent 65,536 characters

•Unicode uses 16 bits to represent each character

•Able to represent any universal character in the Unicode Standard

•There are adapted forms of the original Unicode standard capable of representing millions of characters

NTA becomes the only fully automated government office

KATHMANDU: The practice that was in trend till recently was that files submitted by service seekers used to be accepted in the analogue form and if any particular file was required for further reference at a later date, it was quite difficult to find out who had the file or where it was placed. This is a grim tale of Nepal Telecommunications Authority (NTA) – a traditional system that has now become a part of history.

"If the government or any individual wanted particulars of any file like the bandwidth purchase details or the dues of the telecom companies, among others, we had to either look for the file ourselves or try locating the person who had it," shares Purshottam Khanal, chairman of NTA.

He reveals that there have been many instances when files have been misplaced or the person responsible for it was on leave or in a worse case, already retired. "The documentation process was in such a sorry state that it created problems for us on so many occasions. We realized that this could not carry on any further and decided to adopt a fully automated system at any cost," he adds.

Khanal, who initiated the automation process at NTA and made it a fully automated organization, shares,

Presentation & Document Writing Skills

What is a good presentation?

Good presentation is one that has 4Ps:

- Plan
- Prepare
- Practice
- Present

Why do we need to know how to prepare the information?

- Public speaking is commonly feared by many people.
- It can be a nerve-racking experienced, but anxiety can be minimized.
- Practice and preparation can help become a good presenter.

Plan

Preparation or planning is the first step for successful presentation Aspects:

- Purpose Audience
- Structure
- Ask yourself:

- > Who is your audience?
 > What do you want to present? (Content, material)
 > Why do you want to present this? (purpose)
 > Where do you want to present? (place)
 > How do you want to present this? (ppt, other, technology,etc.)

Plan

Audience Analysis

- In what is the audience interested?
 What does the audience want?
 What does the audience already know?
 What does the audience need to know?
- What does the audience expect from this presentation?
 How will the audience benefit from this presentation?

Plan

Structure:

- Structure the content in line with the audience's needs
 What is your objective?
 Do your research
 Gather material from different sources o Arrange points logically

Important Tips:

- Anticipate audience's questions and prepare possible answers
 Prepare handouts if desired and appropriate. Everyone benefits from visual/graphic documents.
 Don't forget to prepare with the allotted presentation time in mind. If you don't know how long you have, find out.

Plan

Example Structure for 20-minute presentation:

- > Opening: 2 minutes
- Middle: 13 minutes
- ► Ending: 2 minutes
- Questions: 5 minutes

Prepare

Opening: The first few minutes are critical for success

- Carefully design and master this while practicing

 Good first impression
 Rehearse well, but use natural speech and no reading from notecards or computer
 Get attention
- Shock, humor, question, story, statistics
 Be enthusiastic
- Motivate audience to listen
 Middle:

 - Logical sequence
 Understandable
 Recaps (summaries) when appropriate
 Visual aids (flip-charts, handouts)

- Ending: The last few minutes are just as critical for success as the first few minutes

 - Summarize important points Suggest action What should the audience do now? When should they do it? Why?

 - o How?

Practice

- Be active Move around rather than stand stiffly in one spot
- Controlled gestures

 Hand movements
 Playing with hair
- Where to keep hands?
 Not in pockets
 - Occupy hands with notes or a pointer. Nervousness tends to show in our hand gesturés.
- Eye contact

 Look around from person to person while glancing at notes or presentation
 Don't stare
- Face audience

Practice

Verbal Communication

- Speak naturally
- Variations in tone and pitch of voice
- Talk to audience, not just in front of them
- No jargon
- No ambiguous or complicated language
- Question your audience throughout to facilitate group involvement or garner attention

Practice

Audience

- Be aware of audience's nonverbal and verbal communications
- If people are bored or confused, their body language will show it.
- Adjust based on what you see
- Engage audience
- Questions, activities
- Handle questions to the best of your ability
- You are not expected to know everything
- Anticipate guestions and have answers ready
- Sometimes questions allow you to highlight a point you want to make

Present

- Prepare thoroughly
- Breath deeply and slowly
- Use gestures and facial expressions as a way of converting nervous fear to positive enthusiasm.

Anxiety and stage fright

- Everyone has it to some degree, even the best public speakers
- Do not try to completely eliminate fear
- Instead, channel that fearful energy into an effective presentation.

So, what is a Good Documentation?

- It is a concise, legible, accurate and traceable records in a simple word.
- Concise: The document must tell the entire story and must be understood by internal/ external customers

Legible: The documents must be readable by internal/external customers.

Accurate: • The document must be error free.

Traceable:

· Each aspect of the document must be traceable, such as, who recorded it, where and why

How do we make the task easy?

Let's examine what it means to be concise.

- Are our documents standardized?
- Are the documents easy for all to use?
- Do we have certain documents that consistently have errors?
- Do our documents tell a complete story?

If we have an answer to these questions, then we are good to go...

Let's examine what legible means.

- Can everyone read what is written?
- No matter who, where or what, can the written or printed data be read?
- Now, let's examine what it means to be accurate. - Data shall be recorded as soon as possible and shall not be falsified.

What does the traceability mean?

Can everyone understand who recorded the data, why it was recorded, what was recorded and when it was recorded.

- · If we have an answer to this, then we can trace every information about the data.
- For all this, standardization is the key, a common practice accepted by everyone.

Purpose of documentation:

- Documents are objective evidence that actions or tasks have been performed
- Documentation helps other to read your research, experiment and account of future countless possibility of new ideas and also it provides credit to the owner.

Quality System Records

- Includes:
 Purchase Orders

Computer Generations

There are five generations of computer:

- First generation 1946 1958
- Second generation 1959 1964
- Third generation 1965 1970
- Fourth generation 1971 today
- Fifth generation Today to future

The First Generation

- The first computers used vacuum tubes for circuitry and magnetic drums for memory, and were often enormous, taking up entire rooms.
- They were very expensive to operate and in addition to using a great deal of electricity, generated a lot of heat, which was often the cause of malfunctions.

Vacuum tube

The First Generation

- First generation computers relied on machine language, the lowest-level programming language understood by computers, to perform operations, and they could only solve one problem at a time.
- Input was based on punched cards and paper tape, and output was displayed on printouts.

The Second Generation

- Transistors replaced vacuum tubes and ushered in the second generation of computers.
- One transistor replaced the equivalent of 40 vacuum tubes.
- Allowing computers to become smaller, faster, cheaper, more energy-efficient and more reliable.
- Still generated a great deal of heat that can damage the computer.

Transistor

The Second Generation

- Second-generation computers moved from cryptic binary machine language to symbolic, or assembly, languages, which allowed programmers to specify instructions in words.
- Second-generation computers still relied on punched cards for input and printouts for output.
- These were also the first computers that stored their instructions in their memory, which moved from a magnetic drum to magnetic core technology.

The Third Generation

- The development of the integrated circuit was the hallmark of the third generation of computers.
- Transistors were miniaturized and placed on silicon chips, called semiconductors, which drastically increased the speed and efficiency of computers.
- Much smaller and cheaper compare to the second generation computers.
- It could carry out instructions in billionths of a second.

Integrated Circuit

The Third Generation

- Users interacted with third generation computers through keyboards and monitors and interfaced with an operating system, which allowed the device to run many different applications at one time with a central program that monitored the memory.
- Computers for the first time became accessible to a mass audience because they were smaller and cheaper than their predecessors.

The Fourth Generation

- The microprocessor brought the fourth generation of computers, as thousands of integrated circuits were built onto a single silicon chip.
- As these small computers became more powerful, they could be linked together to form networks, which eventually led to the development of the Internet.
- intel pentium Martine

Microprocessor

• Fourth generation computers also saw the development of GUIs, the mouse and handheld devices.

The Fifth Generation

- Based on Artificial Intelligence (AI).
- Still in development.
- The use of parallel processing and superconductors is helping to make artificial intelligence a reality.
- The goal is to develop devices that respond to natural language input and are capable of learning and self-organization.
- There are some applications, such as voice recognition, that are being used today.

- 2) Encoding techniques
- 3) ASCII
- 4) Limitations of ASCII
- 5) UNICODE
- 6) Advantages of Unicode

- 8) Nepali Typing Using UNICODE(Traditional/Romanized) Layouts.
- 9) Online Nepali typing.
- 10) Browsing using Nepali Unicode.
- 11) Create high quality document using Nepali Unicode.

3. Introduction to characters and ASCII (20 minutes)

Basics of Computer Language:

Computers don't understand human language. The only language computers understand is 0's and 1's (presence of a signal or absence of a signal).

Everything that goes into the computer memory for processing converts first into 0s and 1s. It could be numbers, character, texts, audios, videos and nowadays even emojis. Another fact is that, all the characters are just symbols. That means, every characters you see on the screen are symbols.

All the Characters are 'JUST SYMBOLS'

These symbols do not make any sense to the computers. Symbols are only for humans.

Now we have a problematic scenario in front of us. On one side have symbols so that human can interact with computers. On the other side, we have 0s and 1s, the only language the computer understands.

If we want computer to process these symbols, then we need to convert it into 0s and 1s.

But the problem is, we cannot convert symbols directly into 0s and 1s. Because 0s and 1s are actually numbers and belong to binary number system. A number from one number system can be converted into another number system. For example, a decimal number 65 can be converted into a binary number system and a binary of 65 can be converted back to decimal number.

- 4. Knowing Unicode and its advantages (20 minutes) Refers to slide material
- 5. Downloading and installing Unicode Romanized and traditional.(20 minutes)

Here participants should encourage and taught to how to download ,install and use Nepali Unicode layouts of their choice

3 Introduction to Word processing (5 minutes)

What is word processing?

Word Processing refers to the act of using a computer to create, edit, save and print documents. In order to perform word processing, specialized software (known as a Word Processor) is needed. One example of a Word Processor is Microsoft Word, but other word processing applications are also widely used.

Examples of word processors: Microsoft Word, LibreOffice writer.

Online tools for word processing: Google docs, Microsoft word online. Both are free tools anyone can access and use from anywhere using internet.

Note: Access Microsoft word, Word online and/or google docs inside the class.

4 Getting started with Word (30 min)

4.1 Starting Microsoft Word

Different ways to starting MS Word. Using start menu and run.

Opening Word using start menu:

Windows 7 and earlier: Click on start menu >> All programs >> Microsoft office /office >> Word.

Windows 8/10: Use of start menu and search to start Ms Word.

Using run:

Click windows key = + R in keyboard >> Type winword >> click ok button

4.2 Understanding the start screen and creating a new blank document

The use of following three parts of start screen

Templates: Create document using different templates. Blank document template to start creating blank documents.

Recent: To access recently opened / edited documents.

Open other documents: Access other documents on recent list from different locations.

4.3 The word screen

Quick Access Toolbar: Quick Access Toolbar lies next to the Microsoft Office Button. It is a customizable toolbar that comes with a set of independent commands. Default quick access toolbar contains save button, undo button, redo button and a drop down to customize quick access toolbar.

Document Title: It lies next to the Quick Access Toolbar. It displays the title of the currently open document or application.

Ribbon and tabs: It is located below the Quick Access Toolbar and the Title Bar. It comprises seven tabs; Home, Insert, Page layout, References, Mailing, Review and View. Each tab has specific groups of related commands.

Status Bar: The Status Bar is a thin toolbar that runs along the bottom of the Word workspace. This bar can display information about the document being worked on, such as page number, word count, language, and there are viewing options in the form of icons at the right hand side of the Status Bar.

Navigation panel: In Word 2016, 2013, and 2010, the Navigation Pane helps you quickly navigate through long documents. This feature organizes your document into a series of headings and pages.

3 Introduction to Excel Spreadsheet (20 minutes)

What is Excel Spreadsheet?

Microsoft Excel is a spreadsheet developed by Microsoft for Windows, macOS, Android and iOS. It features calculation, graphing tools, pivot tables, and a macro programming language called Visual Basic for Applications (VBA). It has been a very widely applied spreadsheet for these platforms. Excel forms part of the Microsoft Office suite of software.

Microsoft Excel has the basic features of all spreadsheets, using a grid of cells arranged in numbered rows and letter-named columns to organize data manipulations like arithmetic operations. It has a battery of supplied functions to answer statistical, engineering, and financial needs. In addition, it can display data as line graphs, histograms and charts, and with a very limited three-dimensional graphical display. It allows the sectioning of data to view its dependencies on various factors for different perspectives (using pivot tables and the scenario manager).

Microsoft Excel is free tools anyone can access and use from anywhere using internet.

Note: Access Microsoft Excel, Excel online and/or google docs inside the class.

What is PowerPoint?

PowerPoint is a graphical presentation program used to organize and present information. PowerPoint presentations consist of a number of individual pages or "slides." Slides may contain text, graphics, sound, movies, and other objects that can be freely arranged.

Presentations can be printed, displayed live on a computer, or navigated through at the command of the presenter. For larger audiences, the presentation is often projected onto a large screen. Handouts, speaker notes, or outlines can also be produced from the slides.

PowerPoint 2016 Editing Window (Normal View)

The Normal View in PowerPoint features several commonly used Tabs, Panes, and Tools. We'll use Normal View as we create and design our presentation.

The Ribbon

The Ribbon replaces the menu bar seen in previous versions of PowerPoint. The Ribbon groups items that are most likely to be used together. There are several frequently used tabs, such as File, Home, Insert, Design and View. Clicking on each tab activates a group of relative commands, menus, and buttons. There are also contextual tabs that only show up only when needed, such as Text Box Tools, Picture Tools, Drawing Tools and Chart Tools. To activate those tools, click on the associated object.

Opening PowerPoint

To open a PowerPoint 2016 presentation, click on the File tab in the upper left corner.

- The most common choices for opening a presentation are:
 - New allows you to open a Blank presentation or you may choose from a selection of Templates and Themes.
 - Open lets you navigate to an existing file to view and/or modify a presentation that has already been created.
 - Recent displays a list of your most recently created presentations and their file locations.

Creating New Presentations

The New selection gives you several options:

- Blank presentation creates a new presentation using default settings for text and color. Theses slides will not include content or design elements.
- Templates and Themes are used to create a new presentation based on predesigned slide styles. These options also do not include content.
- New from existing will use the formatting of a previously created presentation.

For this exercise, we'll start with a Blank presentation. Select New, choose Blank presentation and click on the Create icon.

PowerPoint Slides

When you choose to create a blank presentation, PowerPoint will open a presentation with a Title Slide. Once the Title Slide is open, you'll see a slide with two placeholder text boxes for a title and a subtitle. Click inside the placeholder box and type to add the title. If you want a subtitle, click and type inside the smaller placeholder. If you don't want a subtitle, you can just ignore its placeholder box.

To add a New Slide, make sure you're on the Home tab. The New Slide button will add slides to your presentation.

The New Slide button has two parts:

Clicking on the top part will automatically insert a new slide. If you have just reated a Title slide, the new default layout will be a Title and Content slide (for details, see the section on slide layouts).

Clicking on the bottom will give you a choice of layouts. You can choose which layout you want for your next slide. Select a slide layout by clicking on its image in the Office Theme gallery.

Slide Layouts

There are several standard slide layouts to choose from when adding new slides.

A unique layout can be chosen by clicking on the bottom half of the New Slide button in the Home tab. When the layout gallery opens, click on the style you want and a new slide with that layout will appear in your presentation.

Each layout caption describes the layout type. Content can be text, tables, charts, graphics, pictures, clip art, or video.

If you decide later that the layout you chose doesn't work well for a particular slide, select the slide by clicking on it in the Thumbnail pane. Next, click on the Layout button in the Slides group of the Home tab. Click on a new layout and it will change the layout of the slide.

Applying a Theme

Once a new presentation has been created, a design or color scheme can be added. Remember to use color carefully to enhance your presentation, not detract from it. You will want to maintain good contrast between the background color and the text color. Consider using a light colored background and dark text (or vice versa), but avoid busy backgrounds and primary colors. Use sans serif fonts like Arial, Calibri, and Helvetica for titles and size them between 44 - 60 points. Sub-headings should be between 32 - 40 points, and body text between 18 - 32 points. Try not to use more than two fonts.

PowerPoint has many pre-set designs and themes that include complimentary colors and fonts. To add a theme to a presentation, go to the Design tab in the ribbon. There are several themes immediately available. To use one of the built-in themes, just click on its thumbnail.

On the right side of the Theme thumbnails, there's a scroll bar and an Arrow Down button, which will offer more designs, as seen below. If you're online, you can get more themes from Microsoft Office Online. (Your office program must be a genuine Office product to get online templates).

This Presentation	-
Aa
Office
Aa Aa
	Aa Aa
Aa Aa Aa

If you don't want to use a theme, you can add Background Styles. From this selection, you can add some preset background styles that change according to the colors you've chosen.

Using the Format Background feature, you can choose fill colors, gradients, transparencies, textures, or pictures for your background.

When you have the desired background fill effect, select Close to apply it to the selected slide or choose Apply to All to add the background to all of the slides in the presentation.

Designs can be added to all of the slides or to selected slides. To select multiple slides, click on a slide in the Thumbnail pane of the navigation bar and then hold down the control key and click on any other slides you want to apply the design to.

Text

Formatting Bulleted Lists

In PowerPoint, you can easily modify a slide's default bulleted list. Click inside the text box, and the Format tab will automatically be highlighted. Click on the drop down triangle next to the Bullets button in the Paragraph group.

From the Bullets and Numbering menu you can make various changes to your list:

- The bullet size relative to the text
- The color of the bullet

Ad The shape of the bullet using either a picture or a character

You may also want to adjust line spacing between paragraphs or lists. You can do this through the Paragraph group of tools by clicking the Line Spacing button and selecting Line Spacing Options.

Indents and Spacing controls will open in a separate dialog box.

	Paragraph ?

Adding Content

Text is the default content of the slide below. The format for the default text is a bulleted list. To add text, click and begin typing. To add other content, click on the icon within the content group on the new slide. Each icon will open the appropriate dialog box or task pane in the Drawing Tool s contextual tab.

The icons represent the six standard graphical elements that you might want to insert.

Clicking on an icon will open the associated dialog box. Note that these icons, as well as several other insertion options, are also displayed in the Insert tab on the Ribbon.

Tables

Set the number of columns and rows as needed in the Insert Table dialog box and click OK. Methods for editing and the design and layout of your table are located on the Table Tools contextual tab.

Charts

Select the type of chart you want and click OK. Once inserted into the slide, you can click on the chart to activate the Chart Tools contextual tab, where you'll find tools for editing chart data and changing layouts and styles.

SmartArt Graphics

SmartArt graphics are shapes that are designed to represent the relationship between things or people. You might use SmartArt for an organizational chart or a timeline. SmartArt styles and layouts can be formatted in the SmartArt Tools contextual tab.

Pictures

Rather than using too much text on your slides, consider using pictures along with text as a more interesting way to communicate your ideas. You can put lots of text into the Notes Section and refer to that as you're speaking.

When browsing for images, keep in mind that pictures imported from web sites can be low resolution, and are typically used for on-screen presentations and web pages. If you're going to print handouts, be sure to use images that are at least 180 dpi (dots per inch).

Online Pictures

Online pictures have replaced the old Clip Art. When you click on the Online Pictures button you get a search box. You can type in a word and press enter to search for a specific image or you can click on the Bing Image Search icon to browse categories.

Videos / Media

You can embed a video or link to a video from your presentation. If you want to limit the size of your file, you can link to a video file on your local drive or to a video file that you uploaded to a web site, such as YouTube or Hulu.

All options to insert video or audio are located on the Insert tab, in the Media group.

Normal View displays a single slide as it appears in the presentation, as well as thumbnails and an outline tab, where you can organize the structure. Speaker notes can be added in the bottom section of this window. This view is used to create and edit slides.

Slide Sorter View shows thumbnails of your slides. From this view you can reorder slides by dragging and dropping them, or you can set the timing for the slide show. You can also hide slides in this view. Hiding a slide will keep it in the file, but it will not show when you view the presentation.

Notes Page View allows the speaker to create notes to use during a presentation. Each page corresponds to one slide. These can be printed to assist the presenter during the presentation. Use this view when you're composing speaking topics.

Reading View/Slide Show View displays the slides as an audience will see them. Use the arrows and icons on the lower right side of the Status Bar to advance slides or switch views.

Use the Esc key to return to Normal View.

Slide Show Tab

The Slide Show Tab allows you to review the slide show from beginning to end or from the current (active) slide. You can also control how the show will be presented and rehearse timings in the Set Up Slide Show drop down box.

Changing the Order of Slides in a Presentation

In the slide sorter view, click and hold down the left mouse button and drag the slide to a new location. You'll see a line where the slide will be placed when you release the mouse button. This can also be done in the Thumbnail pane area of the Navigation bar.

Select slide 4 and drag it above slide 3.

PowerPoint Help

If you need help at any point while you're creating or presenting a PowerPoint slide show, you can press the F1 key on your keyboard to get content-specific help.

Saving a Presentation

You can save a file by clicking the File tab, choosing Save, typing a descriptive name into the File Name window, and then clicking the Save button.

If others will need to open your file with previous versions of PowerPoint, use the Save As option and select PowerPoint 97 – 2003 Presentation from the Save as type menu.

Save and Send to Others

If you need to send your presentation to someone else, the best way to is to use the Save & Send option. You can send an attachment of your file using Send Using Email, but if you have large media files, such as videos, you'll need to compress those first to make a smaller file. On the Home Select the Info tab and click the Compress Media button and choose Presentation Quality. Note: Only available if you have inserted media.

You also have the option to Package Presentation for CD. This allows you to add other files or to add a PowerPoint Viewer so that the presentation can be run on a computer that does not have the PowerPoint program. You can also add any linked files such as video or audio.

Printing your Presentation

PowerPoint offers several print options to help you prepare your presentation. You can print slides, handouts, and/or notes to support your presentation.

Types of Print Layouts

- Print All Slides prints out the entire presentation, one slide per page, usually landscape. If you have color graphics on your slides and a large number of pages to print, you may want to print in Grayscale or Pure Black and White.
- Notes Pages will print one slide per page and have room for your presentation notes (if you type them in).
- You can print a text outline of your slides with the Outline option.
- Handouts can be printed with one, two, three, four, six or nine slides per page. When printing handouts with multiple slides per page, you also have the option to print the pages horizontally or vertically.

Exiting PowerPoint

There are several ways to close your file and exit PowerPoint. From the File Button, click Close, if you have not saved your presentation, PowerPoint will prompt you to save. Click Yes to save your presentation and your changes, click No to discard your changes and close the file.

To close the presentation and exit the program, choose Exit or use the X in the upper right corner of the PowerPoint window. You'll be prompted to save the presentation if any changes have not been saved.

Class Work

- 1. Create a new folder named 'IT Training'
- 2. Open a Blank presentation inside that folder.
- 3. Save the presentation as PowerPointLabOne.pptx

Email

Email (electronic mail) is a way to send and receive messages across the Internet. It's similar to traditional mail, but it also has some key differences.

Email advantages

- Productivity tools: Email is usually packaged with a calendar, address book, instant messaging, and more for convenience and productivity.
- Access to web services: If you want to sign up for an account like Facebook or order products from services like Amazon, you will need an email address so you can be safely identified and contacted.
- Easy mail management: Email service providers have tools that allow you to file, label, prioritize, find, group, and filter your emails for easy management. You can even easily control spam, or junk email.
- Privacy: Your email is delivered to your own personal and private account with a password required to access and view emails.
- Communication with multiple people: You can send an email to multiple people at once, giving you the option to include as few as or as many people as you want in a conversation.
- Accessible anywhere at any time: You don't have to be at home to get your mail. You can access it from any computer or mobile device that has an Internet connection.

Understanding email addresses

To receive emails, you will need an email account and an email address. Also, if you want to send emails to other people, you will need to obtain their email addresses. It's important to learn how to write email addresses correctly because if you do not enter them exactly right, your emails will not be delivered or might be delivered to the wrong person.

Email addresses are always written in a standard format that includes a user name, the @ (at) symbol, and the email provider's domain.

The user name is the name you choose to identify yourself.

to me 💌

Hi Julia,

I'm absolutely available as a scientific consultant for v

Some businesses and organizations use email addresses with their own website domain.

About email providers

In the past, people usually received an email account from the same companies that provided their Internet access. For example, if AOL provided your Internet connection, you'd have an AOL email address. While this is still true for some people, today it's increasingly common to use a free web-based email service, also known as webmail. Anyone can use these services, no matter who provides their Internet access.

Webmail providers

Today, the top three webmail providers are Yahoo!, Microsoft's Outlook.com (previously Hotmail), and Google's Gmail. These providers are popular because they allow you to access your email account from anywhere with an Internet connection. You can also access webmail on your mobile device.

Other email providers

Many people also have an email address hosted by their company, school, or organization. These email addresses are usually for professional purposes.

Many hosted web domains end with a suffix other than .com. Depending on the organization, your provider's domain might end with a suffix like .gov (for government websites), .edu (for schools), .mil (for military branches), or .org (for nonprofit organizations).

Getting started with email

You should now have a good understanding of what email is all about. Over the next few lessons, we will continue to cover essential email basics, etiquette, and safety tips.

Setting up your own email account

If you want to sign up for your own email account, we suggest choosing from one of the three major webmail providers.

Understanding the email interface

Below are some examples of different email interfaces from Gmail. Review the images below to become familiar with various email interfaces

• Message pane

When you select an email in the inbox, it will open in the Message pane. From here, you can read the message and choose how to respond with a variety of commands

Merced

Compose pane

You can click the Compose or New button from your inbox to open the Compose pane to create your own email message. From here, you'll need to enter the recipient's email address and a subject. You'll also have the option to upload files (photos, documents, etc.) as attachments and add formatting to the message.

A Compose pane will also appear when you select Reply or Forward. The text from the original message will be copied into the Compose pane

Forward

Whenever you want to share an email you've received, you can use the Forward command to send the message to another person.

Email attachment etiquette

Attachments are an easy way to share files, photos, and more, but many people aren't aware of some of the most common attachment mistakes. Be sure to follow these basic rules when including attachments in your emails.

Mention included attachments

Never attach a file without mentioning it in the body of your email. On the other hand, make sure the attachments you mention are actually included with the message—it's easy to focus on your message and forget to include the file itself. We recommend attaching any files before you start writing.

Consider file size and format

Avoid sending excessively large attachments or uncompressed photos, which can take a long time for your recipients to download. You can always ZIP or compress files to make them easier to send. Additionally, make sure your attachments don't need to be viewed in a specific application—use universal file types like .PDF, .RTF, and .JPG.

Presentation and Documentation Writing Skills

What is a good presentation?

Good presentation is one that has 4Ps:

- Plan
- Prepare
- Practice
- Present

Presentation Skills:

- Why do we need to know how to prepare the information?
- Public speaking is commonly feared by many people.
- It can be a nerve-racking experienced, but anxiety can be minimized.
- Practice and preparation can help become a good presenter.

Plan:

- Preparation or planning is the first step for successful presentation Aspects:

- Purpose
- Audience
- Structure

Ask yourself:

- > Who is your audience?
- What do you want to present? (Content, material)
- Why do you want to present this? (purpose)
- Where do you want to present? (place)
- > How do you want to present this? (ppt, other, technology,etc.)

Audience Analysis

- In what is the audience interested?
- What does the audience want?
- > What does the audience already know?
- What does the audience need to know?
- What does the audience expect from this presentation?
- How will the audience benefit from this presentation?

Structure:

- Structure the content in line with the audience's needs
- What is your objective?
- Do your research

Solution Gather material from different sources o Arrange points logically

Important Tips:

- Anticipate audience's questions and prepare possible answers
- Prepare handouts if desired and appropriate. Everyone benefits from visual/graphic documents.
- Don't forget to prepare with the allotted presentation time in mind. If you don't know how long you have, find out.

Example Structure for 20-minute presentation:

- > Opening: 2 minutes
- Middle: 13 minutes
- Ending: 2 minutes
- Questions: 5 minutes

Always leave time for questions

Prepare

- Opening: the first few minutes are critical for success
- Carefully design and master this while practicing
 - Good first impression
 - o Rehearse well, but use natural speech and no reading from notecards or computer
- Get attention
 - Shock, humor, question, story, statistics
- Be enthusiastic
 - Motivate audience to listen
- Middle:
 - Logical sequence
 - Understandable
 - Recaps (summaries) when appropriate
 - Visual aids (flip-charts, handouts)
- Ending: the last few minutes are just as critical for success as the first few minutes
 - Summarize important points
 - Suggest action
 - What should the audience do now?
 - When should they do it?
 - Why?
 - How?
- ✤ Visual Aids:
 - Colors
 - Grey on white

- o Black on white
- Grammar
- Font size
 - o Small
 - o Medium
 - o Large

Practice

- Be active
 - Move around rather than stand stiffly in one spot
- Controlled gestures
 - Hand movements
 - o Playing with hair
- Where to keep hands?
 - Not in pockets
 - Occupy hands with notes or a pointer. Nervousness tends to show in our hand gestures.
- Eye contact
 - Look around from person to person while glancing at notes or presentation
 - Don't stare
- Face audience

Verbal Communication

- Speak naturally
- Variations in tone and pitch of voice
- Talk to audience, not just in front of them
- No jargon
- No ambiguous or complicated language
- Question your audience throughout to facilitate group involvement or garner attention

Audience

- Be aware of audience's nonverbal and verbal communications
 - o If people are bored or confused, their body language will show it.
 - Adjust based on what you see
- Engage audience
 - Questions, activities

- Handle questions to the best of your ability
 - You are not expected to know everything
 - Anticipate questions and have answers ready
 - o Sometimes questions allow you to highlight a point you want to make

Present

- Prepare thoroughly
- Breath deeply and slowly
- Use gestures and facial expressions as a way of converting nervous fear to positive enthusiasm.

Anxiety and stage fright

- Everyone has it to some degree, even the best public speakers
- Do not try to completely eliminate fear
- Instead, channel that fearful energy into an effective presentation.

So, what is a Good Documentation?

> It is a concise, legible, accurate and traceable records in a simple word.

Concise:

The document must tell the entire story and must be understood by internal/external customers

Legible:

The documents must be readable by internal/external customers.

Accurate:

The document must be error free.

Traceable:

Each aspect of the document must be traceable, such as, who recorded it, where and why.

How do we make the task easy?

Let's examine what it means to be concise.

- Are our documents standardized?
- Are the documents easy for all to use?
- Do we have certain documents that consistently have errors?
- Do our documents tell a complete story?

If we have an answer to these questions, then we are good to go...

Let's examine what legible means.

- Can everyone read what is written?

No matter who, where or what, can the written or printed data be read?

Now, let's examine what it means to be accurate.

- Data shall be recorded as soon as possible and shall not be falsified.

What does the traceability mean?

- Can everyone understand who recorded the data, why it was recorded, what was recorded and when it was recorded.

If we have an answer to this, then we can trace every information about the data.

For all this, standardization is the key, a common practice accepted by everyone.

Purpose of documentation:

- Documents are objective evidence that actions or tasks have been performed
- Documentation helps other to read your research, experiment and account of future countless possibility of new ideas and also it provides credit to the owner.

Quality System Records:

Includes:

- Purchase Orders
- Management Reviews
- Contracts
- Training Records
- Device History Records
- Device History Files

What am I responsible for?

- You are responsible for your signature:
- Written Signature

Should at a minimum be your first initial and full name.

Eg J. Doe

Initials maybe used on any page of a document once signature appears on that page.

Eg. JD

- Electronic Signature
- Responsible for all recorded information before you... because you will be reviewing all data before you to be sure no one has made any mistakes.

What if there is a mistake?

- All errors should be corrected by the person who created them.
- If the person is not available, the error can be corrected by their manager
- Or be corrected by the next highest member of the management and so on

How to correct Mistake?

- Draw a single line through the error
- Make the correction next to the error
- Write an explanation for the error
- Sign and Date the correction

What if there is no more space for correction?

- Draw an asterisk () next to the error. Place the asterisk () on the same page where there is room to write and put the information.
